Post-pandemic, the acceleration of digital health adoption has opened the door for cutting-edge technologies, now central to QMED's exhibition focus.

KEY THEMES FEATURED:

AI IN DIAGNOSTICS & IMAGING:

AI-driven platforms are revolutionizing early detection and decision-making, with applications in radiology, pathology, and predictive health models. Qatar's academic institutions such as Hamad Bin Khalifa University (HBKU) and Qatar Computing Research Institute (QCRI) are pioneering research in these areas in partnership with global tech leaders.

TELEMEDICINE & REMOTE MONITORING:

QMED highlights digital platforms enabling patients to consult with doctors virtually, track vital signs remotely, and reduce in-person hospital visits—an area championed by Sidra Medicine and Hamad Medical Corporation since COVID-19.

HEALTHCARE ROBOTICS & SMART SURGERY:

Qatar has seen the successful integration of robotic surgical systems, such as at the Qatar Robotic Surgery Centre, enabling minimally invasive procedures with enhanced precision and faster recovery times.

WEARABLE HEALTH TECH & IOT:

Exhibitors will feature connected health devices that empower patients with real-time health data, from diabetes management tools to cardiovascular trackers.

SMART HOSPITALS:

Innovation in hospital infrastructure—automated systems, digital workflows, and AI-assisted triage—is being explored in collaboration with Qatar Foundation and Qatar Science & Technology Park (QSTP).

This focus area makes QMED 2026 a gateway for digital health startups, global med-tech firms, and academic innovators to present their breakthroughs to investors, hospitals, and healthcare systems in the GCC and beyond.
